The Laws of Moses and the Laws of Today

— By Special Permission of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Orphans of "The Big House"

EDITOR'S NOTE: Nearly 33 years ago we concluded a successful editorial campaign to vote Hempstead county "wet" — and key pieces in that campaign were the cartoon above and my editorial below, published in The Star of Feb. 13, 1936. Now that we are about to vote again on the liquor question Nov. 5, 1968, I think they are worth reprinting today.

Above this editorial is the world's greatest newspaper cartoon.
Drawn ten years ago by D. R. Fitzpatrick, staff cartoonist of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, it won for him the 1926 Pulitzer prize.

Look at that picture!
It is a pictorial prayer for humanity — born free under the Ten Commandments; doomed to prison and despair and death by the million criminal laws that follow humanity has enacted.

And as the mountain of man-made law rises, the Tablets of Moses shrink by comparison.

They seem now to be almost like two tombstones — tombstones above the graves of the first man and the first woman, born long ago into a peaceful and friendly and helpful world unspooled by the stupidity and narrowness and meanness of later-day men who imagine that the power of the ballot is greater than the Laws of God!

In that mountain of man-made law are certain sheets of paper — laws forbidding men to eat or drink or wear or use various articles.

The judges of civilization, the great philosophers, the great law-givers, the great educators, the great ministers — EVERY ONE OF THEM — had forbidden the people to pass such laws against one another.

But the people went ahead and passed those laws anyway.

Such laws did not seem to work.

The criminal class grew constantly larger. More and more men went to prison, or were killed by officers attempting to enforce the law — and so, behind the adult criminal men there grew up an ever increasing army of women and children to whom The State meant only misery and fear and persecution and death.

For every man sent to prison, or slain in the raids on the moonshine stills of the prohibition era — for every one such man there were from five to ten dependents, bound by blood-tie with him to be, like him, an avowed enemy of a civilized and orderly society.

I call these the Orphans of the Big House.

Society can have no sympathy for the adult man who breaks any law — but what of the innocent ones whom society, by unwise law-making, has raised up to be natural enemies of itself?

If there were 42 moonshiners or bootleggers of record in Hempstead county during the prohibition era then there were many hundreds of additional people living in a criminal atmosphere and bound by blood and family connections to stand with the individual criminal against the collective State.

The man writing these lines is an old prohibition crusader.

But I think that my sentiment began to change about 1927.

Do you remember, about February, 1927, that Zach Horton, Ouachita county deputy sheriff and uncle of Franklin Horton of Hope, was killed in a prohibition raid near Camden?

I was on that scene a few hours later. As editor of the El Dorado News I had crusaded to shut off the flow of liquor from the "Humidity Line" — the Ouachita-Union county line — into El Dorado.

Zach Horton, I found, had been slain, and Arthur Ellis, the Ouachita sheriff, wounded, because the officers walked into an ambush arranged by rival gangs of moonshiners.

Jack Howard, former boss moonshiner at Miller's Bluff, on the Ouachita river, where the killing occurred, had been sent to the penitentiary for an earlier shooting. Paroled, he returned to find that his business had been taken by the Hembree family — a family of squatters.

Howard tried to run them off, and, failing to do so, left with the threat, "I'll be back!"

He neglected to say that he was returning with officers. Hembree arranged an ambush for what he supposed would be Howard and some pals. But the officers, guided by Howard, walked into it instead.

THE BOMBING HALT

President Johnson orders a halt to U.S. attacks on North Vietnam in the hope the action will lead to an end to the war.

Background and effect: Despite the cost of American men and money, the bombing failed to cut the level of infiltration of soldiers and arms from the North into South Vietnam.

War action: American bombers wind up their raids against North Vietnam. Viet Cong rockets hit a Roman Catholic church in Saigon killing 19 persons.

GI reaction: Little enthusiasm and considerable criticism before the U.S. Command silences the American troops.

Laos: American bombers will continue hitting North Vietnamese troops and supplies moving into South Vietnam through Laos.

Domestic: Generally favorable among doves; guarded among the hawks.

Foreign: Pleases most governments expressing their views; upsets the Saigon regime.

THE CAMPAIGN

Democratic and Republican strategists say that the bombing-halt decision gives Hubert H. Humphrey's campaign a lift.

Richard M. Nixon says he hopes the halt brings some progress toward peace but likens it to earlier, temporary pauses.

Humphrey, happy over the halt, visits Midwestern cities.

George C. Wallace says, "I'm more interested in the war being concluded now than being president."

Window Damage $4,295, Two Are Charged

James H. Pilkinton, Hope City attorney, said today that Dannie Parks Simmons, age 17, and Donald D. Harvel, age 13, both of Hope, have been charged with 26 separate counts of damage to public and private buildings in downtown Hope.

City Police arrested the men after receiving complaints that persons in a car were driving around the city Wednesday night shooting out plate glass windows in business buildings.

Both men are presently in jail in lieu of a $500 bond each. They are due to appear in Municipal Court on November 12th. Preliminary estimate of damage to glass over town totaled $4,295.00. Chief of Police Alvin Willis said today that the investigation was continuing.

Amendments, Acts to Be Explained

In addition to electing a U.S. President and Vice-President on November 5, Arkansas will face a lengthy list of state decisions. There will be seven acts and amendments put to the voters for decision.

According to Troy W. Burson, president of Hempstead County Farm Bureau, these acts and amendments will be fully explained by a well qualified Hope Attorney, Larry Patterson, on Monday night, November 4, at 7:00 p.m. at the Hempstead County Courthouse. The public is invited.

All Bombing Halted by Johnson in Effort to Gain Peace in Vietnam

Bombs Cost Billions But Main Objective Was Never Realized War Will Continue in South

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States spent about half a million tons of bombs, nearly $2 billion worth of planes and hundreds of pilots were killed. But it failed in the main objective of starting war against North Vietnam.

That objective was to cut the level of infiltration of men and arms from the North into South Vietnam.

The flow of North Vietnamese soldiers doubled and redoubled during the more than 3½ years of the bombing campaign—even before President Johnson spared most of North Vietnam from U.S. air attack starting last March 31.

And, despite the interdiction campaign, the Viet Cong were re-equipped with new and increasingly sophisticated Red Chinese and Soviet-supplied weapons, many of them heavy rockets and artillery-type weapons.

SAIGON (AP)—The U.S. Command in Vietnam muzzled its GIs today after President Johnson's bombing halt announcement, but the President's action aroused little enthusiasm and considerable criticism among the men.

The order went out from Gen. Creighton Abrams' headquarters to make no comment on the decision to halt the bombing of North Vietnam. A spokesman said the order was issued in accordance with a directive barring members of the armed forces from voicing opinions on political matters or other things outside their competence. He said the bombing halt was a political matter, not military.

Before the directive was issued, however, newsmen gathered opinions from a number of soldiers. Much of the comment was adverse, and several men said they believed the purpose of Johnson's decision was to get

Saigon, NFL to Join in Talks

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three years and nine months after he started the bombing of North Vietnam, President Johnson has ordered an end to all attacks against that country in the hope this will "lead to progress" in ending the war in Southeast Asia.

Announcing his decision Thursday night, Johnson said he acted with the full support of his military chiefs and diplomatic officials, with the agreement of South Vietnam, and upon "confirmation" from North Vietnam, of "the essential understanding of the U.S. terms for his action."

The Johnson order injected a dramatic new element into the presidential election contest less than a week before the voters go to the polls.

Political observers said it could give a lift to Democratic nominee Hubert H. Humphrey's campaign, although it might have come too late to make much difference in voter opinion.

Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon, third party candidate George C. Wallace, and Humphrey all said after Johnson's television-radio broadcast they hoped the step would mean progress in the Paris peace talks.

Johnson had notified all of them of his decision about 6 p.m., two hours before he went on the air.

Johnson himself, obviously aware of speculation that he might time a bombing halt to help Humphrey, declared that the action was determined by responses from North Vietnam to his terms.

He said these began developing Sunday night and continued through Monday.

A round of consultations within the government and with South Vietnam followed, and he made the final decision to order that "all air, naval, and artillery bombardment of North Vietnam cease as of 8:00 a.m., Washington time, Friday morning."

Johnson warned that his arrangements with North Vietnam are not foolproof and he held open by implication the possibility the bombing would be resumed if the North Vietnamese went on the offensive.

"We could be misled—and we are prepared for such a contingency," he said. "We pray to God it does not occur."

Johnson started the bombing of North Vietnam Feb. 7, 1965. At the heart of the deal he made to bring it to an end is an agreement that the Paris peace talks will enter a new phase next Wednesday.

At that time representatives of both the South Vietnamese government and its enemy, the National Liberation Front of South Vietnam, take their places at the negotiating table.

The President did not say specifically why he thought the North Vietnamese had finally decided to make terms on ending the bombing, but he suggested that they might have acted because they no longer saw a chance of victory in South Vietnam.

He said the Saigon government had "grown steadily stronger" that South Vietnam's army was increased to a million men, and that U.S. troops under Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, Jr., and his predecessor, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, have "produced truly remarkable results."

Halt Helps Humphrey's Campaign

By JACK BELL

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic and Republican strategists agreed, at least privately, today that the decision to halt bombing of North Vietnam gave Hubert H. Humphrey's presidential campaign a lift.
But few were willing to hazard a guess on whether the lift was enough—or in time—to put Humphrey over the top Tuesday against Republican Richard M.
Nixon.

President Johnson's announcement of the bombing halt over nationwide television and radio Thursday night could serve as a sort of one-two punch, removing a major reason for antiwar voters refusing to tip the Democratic lever Tuesday or perhaps ignoring the election altogether.

President Johnson coupled his announcement that he is stopping the limited bombing with the cautious report that "progress has come" at long last in the Paris peace talks.

It was the judgment of Sen.
Eugene J. McCarthy, that the bombing halt would help elect antiwar candidates for the House and Senate but might not be politically beneficial to the presidential nominee.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, applauded the President's action but said it would have little effect on Tuesday's voting, in which he is seeking re-election as an anti-war candidate.

Humphrey, of course, was as elated by the Johnson decision as Nixon seemingly was downcast.

All of the candidates, including Third Party hopeful George C. Wallace, were briefed by the President by telephone before the broadcast.

Humphrey said in Newark,
N.J., that Johnson's action would "help the cause of peace."

Nixon, who had foreseen such a development and had implied that a "cynical" political move might be forthcoming, expressed the hope in New York that the bombing halt "may bring some progress" in the Paris talks.

Wallace said he "couldn't care less" what effect the bombing halt would have on the presidential race. His only concern, he said, was for an early and honorable settlement of the war so "we can bring the American servicemen home."

could get an acceptable deal with Johnson (it would undoubtedly do so).

On Sept. 17 Johnson had conferred with Harriman and reviewed his conditions for halting the bombing. According to administration officials these were essentially that:

1. The demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam would be respected by Communist forces as well as U.S. and allied troops;

2. That North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops would not make terror attacks on Saigon and the other cities and towns of South Vietnam;

3. That representatives of the Saigon government of President Nguyen van Thieu would be admitted to the second phase of the Paris talks, following the bombing halt.

On Oct. 3 Ambassador Cyrus R. Vance, having returned to Washington following the Oct. 2
Paris meeting, conferred with Johnson. According to generally accepted reports, he was seeking maximum negotiating flexibility in the belief that the longdeadlocked bombing issue might begin to move.

For the first time on Oct. 9
the North Vietnamese negotiating team began to ask questions that bore tow a bombing halt might be arranged.

Knowledgeable officials report there were other secret contacts about that time. One date mentioned as significant is Friday, Oct. 11.

lieve that the air assault could have been successful; that it might have shortened the entire Vietnam war, including the ground fighting in the South.

But, they claim, former Secretary of Defense Robert S.
McNamara, backed by Johnson, prevented the military from striking North Vietnam as heavily and rapidly as possible.

They contended that the closely controlled, gradually increased buildup of bombing pressure did little more than give the other side time to adjust.

The U.S. generals and admirals found their views echoed by a powerful Senate committee which declared "we shackled
the true potential of air power."

The tight restrictions on tar-bombing populated areas—

these, say the civilian leaders, were necessary to keep the war
limited.

But even this limited bombing campaign which began on Feb.
7, 1965 has cost the United States 911 airplanes.

Hubert H. Humphrey elected president.

Many expressed fear that after seven years of fighting and 29,000 American dead, the United States might settle for the peace that would let the Communist take over Vietnam.

None thought the pace of the war would slow down.

Staff Sgt. Benjamin Estes of Gadsden, Ala., a Korean War veteran, said: "I just can't see us letting all those sacrifices be in vain. I'm willing to stay longer to get the thing really settled.
If the war stops, it has to stop so there will be a permanent peace. If it's a Korean-type settlement it will all start up again in a while."

"I feel sorry for the guys in the field," said Spec. 4 George Gensel of San Francisco. "It will be a whole lot worse. Look what happened when we slowed the bombing before. Things got a whole lot worse."

Spec. 4 Fred Hyre, an Army
mortician from Jacksonville, Fla., said: "I've seen the bodies of 8,000 GIs come through this year alone. It would be just great if the kids stop dying. But in the past the Communists haven't played square with us, and we can't forget that."

"I think it's just a deal to get Humphrey elected," said Spec.
4 Jim Heil of Chicago. "I'm afraid we're just setting ourselves up. But I guess it's worth the risk if it really finishes this damn war."

An Army Special Forces sergeant who declined to give his name said: "It doesn't really make any difference to me.
Johnson can stop it or not stop it. I've got no faith in the Communists."

Spec. 4 Robert Kershaw of Florissant, Mo., said: "If it will get the GIs out of here, I say do it. My time is almost up, but there are a lot of guys coming behind me to do their tours."

"I don't think we should be here in the first place," said
Pfc. Dennis Cassidy of Columbus, Ohio. "It looks like we gave in to an ultimatum from Hanoi, but I can't really tell."

The first U.S. coin was a one-cent piece, minted in 1787.

OK, ARKANSAS. LET'S FACE IT.

Two years ago we gave Rockefeller his chance.
Are we going to make the same mistake twice?
Not a chance.

We literally cannot afford it again.

Just look what's in store for you.

A $50,000,000 tax increase.
Fifty million dollars out of your pockets.

But that's not all.

A $300,000,000 bond issue.
Three hundred million dollars.

The interest alone on this 20-year bond issue would be $181,200,000. And we have to pay it.

If this is fiscal responsibility,
Marion Crank wants none of it.
And neither should you.

Think about it.

For your own sake, elect Marion Crank Governor.
And get your money's worth for a change.

Calendar of Events

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 3

Sunday, November 3 the guest minister at the First Presbyterian Church will be the Rev. John T. Rorex, who resigned his pastorate in Texarkana recently to serve in the Little Rock area as Urban Missioner. Those who heard him on his previous visit know that he is one of the best preachers to fill our pulpit.

There will be a Training School for Leaders for the Witness Season January thru March at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday, November 3.

The Minister this Sunday morning at the First Presbyterian Church is the Rev. John T. Rorex, formerly of Texarkana who is launching a challenging urban church program for the Little Rock Area. He will devote a small portion of his sermon to tell us about our church's program for child care and he will be one of the principal speakers at the Witness Workshop which is being held for Southwestern Arkansas in our Church this afternoon.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 4

All Circles of the W.S.C.S. of the First United Methodist Church will meet Monday, November 4 at 2 p.m. at the church.

FAIR EXCHANGE OR BRIBERY?

Dear Helen: We have twins three years old, and a baby five months old. My husband says I can continue having diaper service only if I give up smoking. I won't give up smoking unless he quits his Friday night poker game.

I say if I have to give up the service, he must buy me six dozen diapers but he only wants to buy two dozen. If he only gets me two dozen, I'll need a clothes dryer to keep up, and that's more expensive than a diaper service.

I don't think he's fair, do you? — MARSHA

Dear Marsha: Fair or not, you'll work less and enjoy it more if you give up smoking. And when you make the Big Sacrifice, especially for your husband, you'll find he'll do more nice things for you—even perhaps to taking you out on Friday nights or buying you a dryer for Christmas.— H.

Dear Helen: My husband is 75 years old. I am 36. We have a 12 year old daughter. Do they allow children in senior citizen housing projects? — D. L.

Dear D.: Two out of three in your family aren't senior citizens. Even though you were "allowed," you wouldn't be happy in a golden years complex.

You honored me by electing me governor of Arkansas in 1948. At that time you will recall we had the most powerful Congressional delegation in the nation. We got things done for Arkansas. Our delegation in the House of Representatives has continued to grow in national influence. Congressman Wilbur Mills is chairman of the most important House Ways and Means Committee. Many predict he will be the next speaker of the House of Representatives. We must not now spoil our state record of going Democratic in the national election for president. Whatever good happens to Wilbur Mills is going to benefit Arkansas. Let's send Congressman Mills back to Washington in January with the added prestige and added influence he'll have because Arkansas stayed in the Democratic Party in our vote for president.

Your husband should bow to the majority.— H.

Dear Helen: My 16-year-old daughter is pregnant. She has been going steady with an older boy for a year, and we think he is no good, but she says he has never touched her. I've had several fights with her about him.

She accuses my husband, her stepfather. She said he came home drunk one night while I was away. He swears this isn't true; and my daughter first said it happened on one date, and then another, when I proved I was home that night.

My husband does drink a lot. I can't believe this but I can't quite disbelieve it entirely.

The misery is unbearable, as if I slide with my husband, I've lost a daughter, and if I slide with my daughter, I'll have to leave him. Helen, I love them both, though I see their faults. Now all I want to do is run away and hide.

Last night she asked me to apply for an abortion because her stepfather is the father. Do you suppose she is pinning it on him so she can get out of this? — NO WAY TO TURN

Dear NWTT: It won't take long for an expert counselor to catch your daughter up, if she's lying. Insist that she consult one. Should she refuse, you can be pretty sure your husband is innocent.— H.

Dear Helen: About those restaurants where the waiters and waitresses snub mannerly teens: If we parents got into the act and boycotted them, they might get the message faster.

Our son, after being ignored, served sloppily, and so slowly he and his date were an hour late to their prom, left the exact change on the plate. The waiter held up the bill, counted the money and made snide remarks, thinking to embarrass him before his girl. But she had already been eluded in. On the way out, he handed the waiter a healthy tip. I hope the darn guy felt ashamed, but I doubt it. The food's good but we are—BOY-COTTING.—

"...he has the heart for the Job!"

I have served with and been associated with both the Democratic and Republican nominees for president. I feel that I know both of them well. If you want evaluation of the candidates for this most important position, here it is: The Honorable Hubert Humphrey will, by far, make the best president of the United States. He has the mental capacity, the temperament, the courage to make an excellent president. One of the things I like most about him is that he has the heart for the job — a deep feeling for, and an interest in, people. If you want my recommendation and advice, vote for the Humphrey-Muskie ticket. Keep Arkansas in the Democratic column. Help elect the best man available for the presidency. Above all, this is my counsel to you, stay with the major parties. This has been the strength of our nation.

Bobkittens End Season With Win

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Winding up the most successful season here in many a year, the Hope Bobkittens made the big plays late and nipped the Fairview Cardinals 7-0 last night in Camden.

That finished up the year for the Kittens, and they can be very proud of their 6-1 record. That's the first junior high winner Hope's had in about six years, and this bunch closed with three shut-out wins.

Actually, the score could have been worse than 7-0, as Hope was in Fairview territory for 6 of our 7 possessions in the contest. But the quick Cardinal defense repeatedly dashed hopes for scoring drives, but Ray Wheelington was able to wrap up an outstanding year with 21 carries for 101 yards and the game's only TD.

For a long while, it appeared as though no one would get on the board. Hope took the opening kickoff and moved to a quick first down, then had to punt at the Card 14.

Tommy Miller botched a 40-yarder to the five, but Steve Johnson made it to the wall of blockers at the sideline and broke into the clear. He was cut off at the Hope 47. Two plays later, however, Bobkitten David Sanders leaped high for the first of his two interceptions at the Hope 23.

After the only major penalty of the game, a personal foul against Fairview, Miller swept 12 yards to midfield. That was all, though, as Hope had to punt moments later at the Card 43. This time Johnson spun from his four to the 28, but the Hope defense settled down and held.

A good return by Sanders on the next punt set up the Kittens only 44 yards from a score and in good position, but Fairview rose and forced another kick from the 40. This time Johnson really got moving from his own six, and fell down at the Card 43 in the clear.

Also the quarterback, Johnson, played a 32-yarder to tight end Gary Wilson at the Hope 28, but on the very next down Sanders intercepted for the Bobkittens and moved it 10 yards to the 15.

Still it was a scoreless game, and only 0-48 remained in the game. This was the only possession where the Kittens didn't move into enemy territory, as Miller was stopped at the Hope 40 at the buzzer.

The squads traded punts on the first series of the third period, before the Cards got off their best advance to that point by moving out to their 40, but Wheelington picked off another pass at midfield to stop it.

Forty seconds remained in the third period, and the Kittens began the move with the ball still reading 0-0.

Two plays moved it to the 43, where Hope faced a big 3rd and 4. Wheelington powered to the Kittens faced another third down 37 for the first down, but it all seemed in vain when quickly the Kittens faced another third down effort with seven yards to go.

From the 34, QB Steve Harris surprised them all by throwing a pass to Miller, his first completion, and Tommy kept the drive going by fighting to the 25. 6-01 was left, and here came the only penalty charged to Hope all night, moving the ball to the 30. Wheelington ran eight yards to the 22, but Harris tried an option on the next down which lost back to the 30. Going back to pass, Harris saw everyone covered and could only manage a yard to the 29.

Now it was 4th and 14, and pessimists like this one could foresee a scoreless tie. The Hope Bobkittens couldn't, though, and of all things a screen pass was the call. It worked!

Harris was smeared as he lofted it to Wheelington in the flat at the 34, but Ray caught it and had four blockers in front of him. He ran out of interference at the 13, but he was on the sideline and had only to sidestep one more man before completing the 29-yard play. After delaying the game, moved the ball to the eight for the P.A., they set up guard Bill Moore to kick.

On a good fake, Tommy Frazer took the snap and had Wheelington wide open in the end zone to take the pass that made it 7-0 with 3:48 on the clock. And those last 3:48 were antagonizing.

With 4th and 16 at their own 37, the Cards responded with a Johnson to Wilson strike to the Hope 45. Only 75 seconds were left, and two plays moved it to the 39. Johnson faded back from that point with 28 seconds to go, and found split end Paul Simpson behind everybody at the Hope 20.

Simpson had to slow up to catch it, and the Bobkittens finally caught him at the ten. As Simpson was hit, he lost the ball, and the Hope defenders grappled for the ball before it went out of bounds at the nine.

Referees ruled that Hope had definite possession of the ball, however, and the elated Bobkittens simply ran out the last 14 seconds of their great season.

Behind Wheelington's 101 yards was Miller's night of 9 for 55. It was not an altogether successful night for the offensive line, as many plays were snarled at the line of scrimmage. They won, though, and it was the though defense that kept them in the close ones through the year. Sometime next week there will be an article here taking the season game by game, with words from Coach Gaylord Solomon.

Mahovich Looked Like a Million

Frank Mahovich looked like a million to the Detroit Red Wings.

The veteran left wing, who was once the subject of a $1 million bid by the Chicago Black Hawks when he belonged to Toronto, scored three goals Thursday night, leading Detroit to a 7-5 National Hockey League victory over the Boston Bruins.

In Thursday's only other game, New York nipped Philadelphia 2-1 for its sixth straight victory against West Division teams.

Mahovich completed his seventh career hat trick with a pair of third period goals after Boston had rallied with three goals to tie the score.

The Big M's second goal of the night came just 23 seconds after Boston's Ken Hodge had tied the game. Then, Mahovich completed his hat trick with a twisting, stick-handling dash up ice to reach an empty net in the final minutes.

Texas Will Find Out If SMU Is Real

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas finds out whether Southern Methodist is for real Saturday and if the Longhorns discover a way to ground the nation's leading pass team it could set up quite a scramble for the Southwest Conference title.

The Mustangs will go into the game before some 62,000 fans in Memorial Stadium at Austin with an unblemished mark in three league tussles. A victory would keep them at the head of the class.

But a loss would send the SWC into its usual chaos with a possibility of five teams sharing a piece of the lead.

For this to occur, Arkansas must defeat Texas A&M, Baylor would have to down Texas Christian, and Texas Tech would have to handle Rice.

It's a simple case of SMU's air power versus Texas' ground power.

Sophomore quarterback Chuck Hixson leads the nation in passing and Jerry Tevlas is college football's best catcher. The Mustangs will short pass you to death then strike for the bomb when the opponent naps.

Texas has one of the finest backfields assembled in years in the SWC. He is ably backed by Ted Koy, Steve Worster, and quarterback James Street.

Texas Coach Darrell Royal said he plans to handle the Mustang offense "by bleeding slow."

"They're going to complete some passes," Royal says, "the only way to break even is to hope they miss a few, overthrow a few, and have a few intercepted. One interception wipes out quite a few short passes."

Fry said "We will play a great football team. It's a real challenge. When you look at Texas, their execution, timing, and overall ability is amazing."

Texas is 11th-ranked and SMU is 13th ranked going into the game.

The 17th-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks (2-1) try to keep their SWC hopes alive against the defending champion Aggies who are all but dead at 1-2, and Coach Frank Broyles figures Arkansas, which usually makes

"No one can say what is going to happen before it's over," Broyles said.

Arkansas has always had good luck against A&M in College Station under Broyles. The battle before some 40,000 persons in Kyle Field will feature quarterback Bill Montgomery of Arkansas against Aggie senior field general Edd Hargett.

Texas Tech (2-1) finds itself in another battle of the quarterbacks against Rice at Houston on homecoming. Joe Matulich of the Red Raiders and Robby Shelton of Rice will display their talents. The Red Raiders are solid favorites over Rice (0-2).

Baylor (1-1) tries to snap a 14-year jinx in its game against Texas Christian (0-3) at Fort Worth. It was back in 1954 that a Bear team last defeated the Horned Frogs on foreign soil. TCU has a ground-oriented offense centering around Ross Montgomery and Norman Bulach while Baylor mixed Steve Stuart's passing with the rushes of Pinkie Palmer.

Bobcats to Play Camden Here Tonight

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

This has been a week of change for the Hope Bobcats, and the results will be made known tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Hammons Stadium, and the Camden Panthers will be the guinea pigs.

With a 2-5-1 mark and the 41-0 loss to Magnolia closest in mind, Head Coach Ronnie Higgins had'em hitting in practice like they haven't hit all year. And it the Cats aren't worn out, which they apparently are not, then things shall be all right this evening.

The Hope offense lost tight end John Kemp with a broken hand and Jim Alford to a Student Council convention, but their places either have been or will be taken. And they will be taken by somebody who found out what a killer's instinct is this week.

If you go to the game, you will see some fierce hitting. Really fierce. And if Hope has finally come out of it and can move the ball offensively, then we have no need to worry.

Camden is the favorite, but that's nothing in 4-AA. They have some good players, and they have shut out their last two opponents, but that string will end tonight. After what we've been through, the alibi "It's" won't be needed. They have been replaced by confidence.

It will be a bad thing if Hope loses, but if Camden does pull it out, it won't be much. As stated earlier, this is the week of win their last four and close at 6-5-1 for the first winning season by a Bobcat team since 1964.

For the Bobcats, the ability to move the ball will make the difference. Camden will score, but Hope will score more. By the margin of 21-13, to be exact, as Hope gets back on the right track. And on the side, here's a 10-0 vote for Magnolia over Fairview.

Texas A&M Not Out of Race as Yet

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Texas A&M proved last year at Fayetteville that it was a Southwest Conference contender. Arkansas would like to use College Station, Tex., for the same purpose Saturday.

The Aggies, trailing Arkansas 21-20 in the fourth quarter, rallied to win 33-21. They closed out with three more conference victories and defeated Alabama in the Cotton Bowl. Texas A&M is 1-2 in the conference, Arkansas is 2-1. No team has ever gotten even the tiniest portion of the SWC title with two conference losses, but the Aggies' Gene Stallings isn't giving up.

"If we've been counted out, I haven't seen it," he said. "Whether we're in it or not, I still think our kids will play as well as they can."

A victory over A&M would vault Arkansas into a tie for the SWC lead if Texas defeats SMU.

"No one can say what is going to happen before it's over," says Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles.

The game will match two fine quarterbacks, A&M senior Edd Hargett and Arkansas sophomore Bill Montgomery, and Arkansas' high scoring offense against A&M's defense which is the best in the league against scoring.

Hargett is second in the league in total offense with 1,140 yards and Montgomery is third with 1,089 yards. "You have to have a lot of respect for Bill for what he's been able to do under pressure," says Broyles.

Broyles says it's not difficult to understand why the Aggies lead the league in points allowed.

"They've done it with great kicking, good offense, good defense," he says. "You can't imagine how many teams have had to punt the ball back to them from the one."

"Their defense has real great ability in (Rolf) Kruger, (Bill) Hobbs, (Ross) Brupbacher and others," says Broyles.

He says he doesn't know what kind of game to expect.

"You have to be prepared mentally to play two or three touchdowns ahead and two or three touchdowns behind," he says.

"I don't know who the underdog is or who the favorite is," he says. "We play them one at a time in the Southwest Conference and forget past records."

Thinks Hogs Will Edge Texas A&M

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — It was 1958. Frank Broyles had taken over as head coach at Arkansas and the Razorbacks had lost their first six games of the season.

Then, came a trip to College Station, Tex., and the beginning of a series of November heroics by the Razorbacks.

Arkansas defeated Texas A&M 21-8 in 1958 and closed out the season with three more November victories. The Razorbacks have won 30 of 35 games they have played in November under Broyles.

Saturday, the Razorbacks play A&M at College Station again and once again the game could serve as a launching pad for a November push.

The Aggies, defending champion in the Southwest Conference, have two conference losses while Arkansas is 2-1 in the SWC.

The Aggies' offense, featuring the passing of Edd Hargett and the running of Larry Stegert and Wendell Housley, figures to severely test Arkansas' sometimes spotty defense. Arkansas, too, can give the defense fits with quarterback Bill Montgomery, tailback Bill Burnett and fullback Bruce Maxwell.

Arkansas may have a little more incentive.

Arkansas State University has not beaten Lamar Tech in four meetings. The Indians need this one to stay alive in the Southland Conference race. ASU Coach Bennie Ellender says Lamar has "never played us when they weren't exceptionally high..." It's homecoming for the Indians and there's no reason to think Lamar will record its first victory of the season at Jonesboro.

Michigan State Tries Ohio State

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Perfection is the name of the game for only eight major college football teams... and that list is a cinch to be reduced by at least one this weekend.

Whether or not it's trimmed even more could depend on this season's upset allotments for a couple of upstarts—Michigan State and Colorado.

Michigan State, which pulled a 21-14 stunner over Notre Dame last week that vaulted it into the No. 17 spot in the rank- bld for their sixth straight.

beaten, untied teams will be eliminated since Harvard and Penn., both 5-0, are paired against each other. The two other outfits with perfect records are No. 19 Ohio University, 6-0, which meets Western Michigan, and Yale, 5-0, which faces Dartmouth.

There have only been 78 unbeaten teams in the last 30 years, and only two during the past two seasons—Wyoming last year and Alabama in 1966.

In other Top 10 action, No. 5 Tennessee, 4-0-1, plays host to UCLA; No. 6 Purdue, 5-1, enters tains hapless Illinois; No. 7 Georgia, 5-0-1, faces a big show-down with No. 15 Houston; No. 8 California, 5-1, travels to Washington; No. 9 Michigan, 5-1, is at Northwestern, and No. 10 Missouri, 5-1, plays host to Oklahoma State.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Mouth Cancer Warning Signals

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.

Look into a mirror, and see and feel your lips: stick out your tongue and look at the top, sides and undersurface: inspect the floor of your mouth: pull out your cheeks to better view the mucous membrane lining: carefully examine the gums around your teeth and the ridges under your dentures: feel for rough spots around teeth and bridges, and under dentures.

Do you find:

1. Swelling, lump or growth anywhere in or about your mouth.
2. White, scaly patches inside the mouth or on lips.
3. Any sore that doesn't heal.
4. Numbness or pain anywhere in the mouth area.
5. Bleeding in the mouth without apparent cause.

If you do, see your dentist at once. These may be mouth cancer warning signals. Some of them appear slowly and painlessly so that you may not be aware of their presence unless you look for them.

Be your own health detective.

This does not mean that you should be your own diagnostician. Seek help from your dentist. He studies hard to become knowledgeable in diagnosis and treatment of oral disease. And, if necessary, he will refer you to the proper specialist for definitive diagnosis and treatment.

Your mouth should be examined at least twice a year. Insist on a mouth examination, and not a tooth examination. It's not enough to have your teeth cleaned, X rayed, and cavities filled.

Early detection and proper

Wallace Is Hopeful War Will End

By JULES LOH
Associated Press Writer
NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — George C. Wallace, says, "I'm more interested in the war being concluded now than being president."

The third-party candidates declined to speculate on what effect President Johnson's order halting the bombing of North Vietnam would have on his candidacy, saying: "I do not care how any action that would bring peace, if it does, affects my campaign."

At a news conference Thursday night in Norfolk, after he and the other two presidential candidates were briefed by the President on the decision, Wallace said:

"I hope and pray that whatever the President, or whatever those in Paris, do is successful. I am more interested in the conclusion of this war honorably and the bringing of the American servicemen home than I am anything else I can think of."

Campaigning in Hagerstown, Md., earlier in the day, he had said, "It's unfortunate, probably, that it (discussion of a bombing halt) comes right on the eve of the election. I wish it could have come months ago."

But he said later that when he made that statement, "I was not briefed and had no idea I would be briefed."

Wallace held his news conference after he spoke to about 12,000 persons— and 300 hecklers—at Foreman Field on the campus of Old Dominion College at Norfolk.

He criticized Richard M. Nixon, the Republican candidate, accusing him of inconsistencies and daring him again to a televised debate. Wallace said of his Democrat opponent, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey: "There's not much need to talk about Mr. Humphrey. He's out of the race."

At Hagerstown, a farming community just below the Mason-Dixon Line, Wallace spoke to 4,000 persons in a shopping center parking lot.

A group of hecklers in the front ranks berated him with jeers and, at one point, a miniature whisky bottle sailed from the crowd toward the candidate and hit a young woman.

A number of scuffles broke out and police hauled off a padded wagon full of hecklers.

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Will the Rams and Cowboys bounce back strong from their first defeat? Can Green Bay reach back for another super game after their sparkler in Dallas Monday night? Can Philadelphia beat anybody? Will the Colts teach the Giants not to mess around with the big boys?

After last week's 9-4 the old Hand picker is 50-26-2 for the season. Let's give it another whirl. All games are Sunday.

NFL
Los Angeles 24, Detroit 14— Our guess is that Rams will react strong to the Baltimore disaster with a big effort before home folks. Much depends on Mel Farr's ankle which was re-injured in loss to 49ers.

Pittsburgh 17, Atlanta 10— Steelers still have Dick Hoak to run against weakest defense in league.

St. Louis 27, Philadelphia 13— Cards have won three in a row and Eagles have dropped all seven. Willis Crenshaw should crunch that Eagle line.

Minnesota 30, Washington 10— Vikings still in race, although shaken by loss to Bears. Bill Brown and Clint Jones should have big day against Redskins' left side.

Baltimore 24, New York 20— This could be closer than you think. Earl Morrall has been hot as backup man for John Unitas and would like to show Althe Sheman he made a boo-boo. Colt defense will pressure Fran Tarkenton and you may see scrambling like you never saw before.

Green Bay 28, Chicago 23— Remember, Packers played Monday night, a real big game in Dallas. Bears still think they can win it all with hottest place kicker in business, Mac Perci-feats? Can Green Bay reach back for another super game after their sparkler in Dallas Monday night? Can Philadelphia beat anybody? Will the Colts teach the Giants not to mess around with the big boys?

San Francisco 20, Cleveland 17— Each has won two in a row and Browns took exhibition game in August 31-17. Running of Ken Willard and Gary Lewis hits Browns where they're weakest. Leroy Kelly on a 100-yard binge and Ernie Green is back to help him now. Bill Nelson on hot streak but so is John Brodie. Home field edge to 49ers.

Dallas 28, New Orleans 13— That Cowboy pass defense, however, should feast on interception-prone Billy Kolmer.

Homemaking and science classes at Hope High School had magic suitcase and oven-top demonstrations Wednesday and Thursday.

Miss Linda Smith of Texarkana, an Arkansas-Louisiana Gas Company employee, made styrofoam and rubber using materials in her magic suitcase.

Then, in Homemaking 1 classes, she made gingerbread on top burner. The girls not only observed the preparation and baking but ate the results, a fluffy pan of hot gingerbread.

Also, the Family Living class heard a career talk by Miss Smith, and the Homemaking 11 classes had an illustrated laundry talk.

Life In Arkansas
By TOMMY YATES
Associated Press Writer
Tonight is Halloween, one of the biggest nights in the year for the kids, and one of the biggest for adults, too, in one fashion or another.

For longer than history has recorded, the last day of October has held a special significance fraught with mysticism, fear and superstition.

With thoughts of goblins and ghosts dancing through their minds, bright-eyed children will slip into their scary costumes and set out with the fall of darkness to trick or treat.

Some will be disheartened, though, that they didn't see a witch riding her broom or that they weren't chased by a six-headed monster. All is quickly forgotten, however, when they suddenly discover their haul of goodies.

The history of Halloween goes back before the Christian era, when autumn festivals belonged to the pagan rite. Great bonfires lighted by the ancient Druids were not only a homage to the Sun God, but also a precaution against the evil spirits who were believed to roam abroad at that particular time.

Rome celebrated the fall with sacrifices of roasted nuts and apples.

According to folklore, in the 10th century, a saintly French monk instituted All Soul's Day prayers after hearing a pilgrim back from the Holy Land describe his encounter with a hermit on a deserted island where, he said, he had been given a glimpse of the infernal regions. The eve of this day, All Hallows' Eve, eventually became Halloween.

About 400 years ago, "beggar holidays" became traditional, enabling the poor to call on more privileged people in quest of largess. In England and Wales, "soul cakes" were baked and distributed to the visitors—obvious forerunners of today's trick and treaters.

Modern times have made one original contribution to the Halloween observance—the jack-o'-lantern. It is said this came about when a country lad tried out his whittling abilities on a pumpkin.

RECORD ROCK COD
DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — Frank Armand, Dar es Salaam's champion spear fisherman, has landed a rock cod weighing 101 pounds 5 ounces—thought the biggest rock cod landed on the East African coast using a rubber-powered gun.

His fish is only 17 pounds lighter than one shot a year ago in the same area, near Mafia Island, on Tanzania's southern coast, by Italian fishermen, who used guns with explosive heads.

The biggest rock cod caught in the area weighed 232 pounds. It was caught with a baited line.

But a bigger one was landed in Tanga, on the north coast, a few years ago; it weighed 550 pounds. The fisherman used the hindquarters of a goat as bait. Rock cod estimated to weigh up to 1,000 pounds have been seen along the East African coast.

Police Seize Eggs Stolen for Halloween

POLICE CHIEF ALVIN WILLIS AND SHERIFF JIMMIE GRIFFIN

An investigation by the Hempstead County Sheriff's Department, the Hope City Police, and the Prosecuting Attorney's office is now under way concerning the theft of a large quantity of eggs from egg producers throughout Hempstead County. It has been reported that some 40 to 50 cases of eggs have been stolen in this County during the last week. In some instances the locks on the producer's cooler room doors where the eggs were stored were broken by those

All letters must be signed, with address, so you are identified to the newspaper staff, but if the character of the letter permits we will allow use of a pen-name in the publication, in which case you should add "Citizen," or some other word below your real name and address. LIQUOR ISSUE

Editor The Star: Let's get down to the issue — the liquor problem. Why do people think there is no harm in whisky? I know for a fact it will make a drunkard out of you; it will make a liar out of you; it will make a thief out of you. It causes separation of man and wife, breaks up homes, makes you kill. Whisky and gasoline will not mix. One writer says she couldn't find in the Bible where it says "Thou shalt not drink." So true. Did you ever read Leviticus 10:9? "Do not drink wine or strong drink." Read Numbers 6:3. "He shall separate himself from wine and strong drink." Judges 13:14 — Luke 1:15 — so you see you who believe there is no harm in drinking don't have a leg to stand on. You preachers and laymen who vote for liquor on Nov. 5 have no thought where you will spend eternity. No drunkard shall enter the Kingdom of Heaven.

ANIMAL HEALTH PLAN

VIENNA (AP) — An Austrian insurance company plans to introduce a health insurance for domestic animals. A 40 Schilling ($1.60) monthly premium would ensure free veterinarian treatment and cover expenses for a stay in an animal hospital.

BIRTH RATE DOWN

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia last year had the lowest birth rate since the republic was founded in 1918. A report of the Statistical Office said in 1967 for each 1,000 inhabitants 15.1 babies were born. The country's lowest birth rate so far was in 1937 at the height of the depression, with 16.7 births for 1,000 persons.

Radicals React Like Non-Radicals to Press' Presence

By NOEL GROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

BOSTON, Mass. — (NEA) — The confrontation had all the earmarks of New Left radicalism. An outsider intruded upon the group, an alien by name and instinct. He refused to leave when asked.

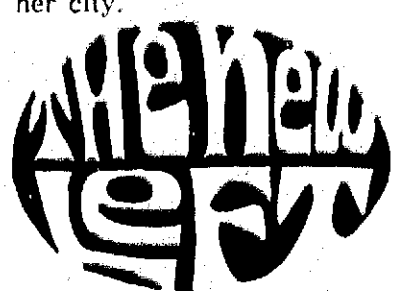

In this case, however, the tables had been turned. The group was the radical Students for a Democratic Society, and the intruder was identified with the Establishment, from the top of his Van Dyke collar to the bottoms of his hard-soled shoes. In microcosm, it was Chicago, Berkeley and Columbia U. in reverse.

There were 19 of them in the parlor of Boston University's Danielson House on Bay State Road, where a row of old residences serve as dormitories, frat houses and meeting centers. It was the first meeting of the year for the SDS committee concerned with low-income housing and rent control in slum neighborhoods, and they decided that everyone should introduce themselves.

One was a sophomore and had worked in the poverty program that summer. The girl was a junior and had worked with rent control in her city.

I was a newsman and was writing about SDS and the New Left.

A short, surprised pause followed and then someone said, "Well, let's finish the in-

Angrily he answered: "When I get through with you, you won't be in any condition to talk about it!"

It was one of the few statements that day I had little reason to doubt.

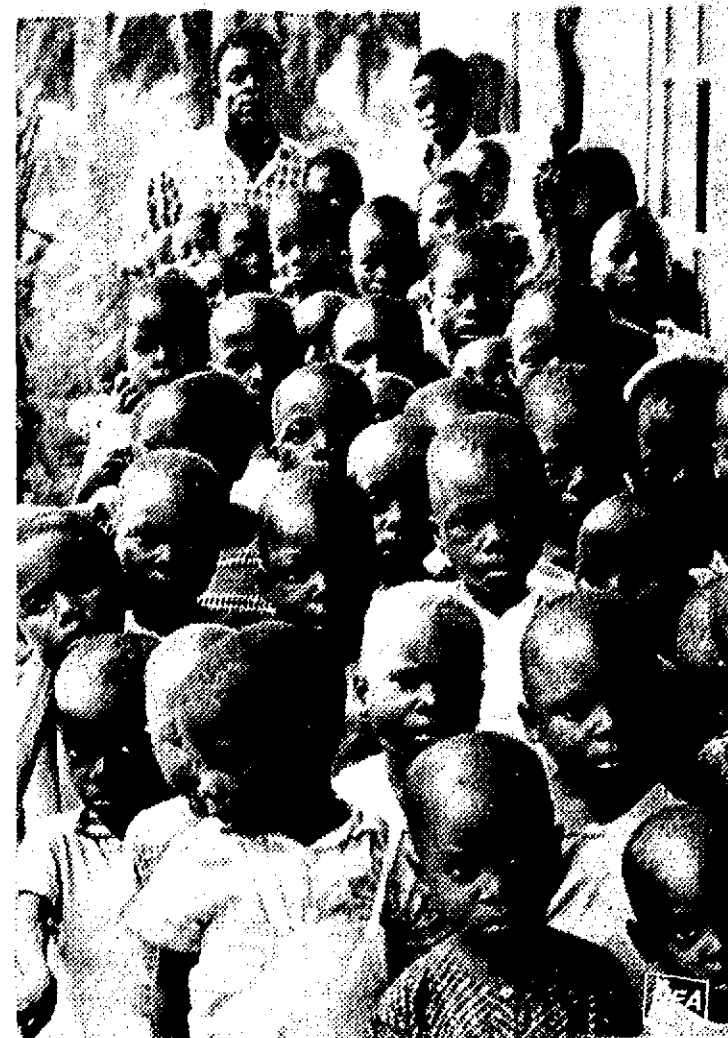

I left the meeting at Danielson House. SDS reacted in a manner remarkably similar to an Establishment group that sees its comfort and tradition challenged by "outsiders."

That they reacted in the manner they did should come as a surprise to no one, except perhaps those who brand all New Leftists as irresponsible cranks incapable of reason and restraint.

Or perhaps, to those New Leftists who think only in black and white, and who regard all Establishment anger and response to their radical actions as unjust repression, completely uncalled for, and beyond understanding. Black and white, as shown that day in Danielson House, is usually purely point of view.

To prove a point, however, I had imposed upon, irritated and rudely disrupted a group of young people whose peers had treated me with at least a polite tolerance on campus.

roductions, and then I suggest we take a vote as to whether or not the press should be allowed to stay."

They discussed the matter and the prevailing sentiment was for expulsion. "Regardless of what this individual feels," someone commented, "the very nature of the press' attitude toward us means that whatever he writes will have to be negative."

A vote on expulsion was held and carried by 19 "ayes" over my lone and illegitimate "nay." I was asked to leave, and refused.

I was told to leave, and replied that as a newsman I could not in good conscience do so because what they were discussing was of public interest, and I felt an obligation to remain.

They offered to appoint a spokesman to report to me after the meeting. I refused the offer, on the basis that I might not trust him to tell me the whole story (the credibility gap).

"Sir, can't you see you are only irritating us and adding to our distrust of the press?" asked a sweet-looking girl. "Why don't you just leave?"

"Why don't we call the cops?" proposed a youth who was promptly laughed at and hooted down as a "class collaborationist."

The meeting was finally moved to a room upstairs. I tried to follow but was blocked at the door. Unfortunately, the door would not close by a good four inches, and I put my ear to the opening.

Frustrated again, the committee called for university authority to have me expelled. A school spokesman refused, on the basis of insufficient legal grounds.

The final decision was made to move the meeting again, to a private apartment. If I attempted to follow, I would be trespassing. When I indicated I would do so, a final element showed its face.

"If you follow us there," said a husky young man named Ron, "I promise you I will personally throw you out."

"Is it your apartment, Ron?" I asked.

NOTICE

TO: THE CITIZENS OF HEMPSTEAD COUNTY:

There has been a lot of loose talk about the bootlegging situation in our county. The "wets" would have you believe that the law cannot be enforced. That is not true. One of the "wets" said in a letter to the paper that he witnessed a sale within sight of the police station. If that is true, the Grand Jury will be interested in the facts.

In that connection, we wish to assure the people that the Hempstead County Christian Civic Foundation will not go out of business after the November 5th general election. We are a permanent organization of ministers and laymen who intend to assist the authorities enforce the law at all times. We are here to stay!

We intend to ask the Circuit Judge to call a Grand Jury to investigate the bootlegging situation, and to look into the matter of law enforcement in the county generally. We intend to seek indictments against all persons who can be identified by legal evidence as bootleggers, and to seek injunctions against the premises out of which they are operating.

We hope to encourage the officers and the courts in their efforts to enforce the law against illegal sales. Most of the time enforcement fails because citizens do not want to become "involved" and will not appear as witnesses. We intend to become involved, not just before the election, but also afterwards. We intend to encourage responsible citizens to back up the officers and the courts, to appear as witnesses when needed, and to otherwise assist in the field of law enforcement.

We believe that the statutes against drunken driving should be strictly enforced, and that anyone convicted of this offense should be required to serve a jail sentence; and that such jail time should be served immediately and not just on week-ends.

We have employed a competent attorney to assist us in our efforts, and we can assure the people of this county that our efforts will not end on November 5th., but will continue.

Respectfully submitted,

Utah to Vote on Sale of Mixed Drinks

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — As far as some voters hereabouts are concerned, Vietnam is a secondary issue in next Tuesday's election. The big one is whether Utah should legalize the sale of hard liquor by the drink.

A proposal to this effect, which will be on the ballot, has brought boosters of the tourist trade into a direct confrontation with the Mormon Church. At the moment, the Church seems likely to prevail over commerce.

Under present law, only 3.2 beer may be sold by the drink. Strong spirits can be bought legally only by the bottle, at state liquor stores. It may then legally be consumed at home, in restaurants which provide setups, or in private clubs whose patrons are supposed to drink only what they bring with them.

A businessmen's group, contending that the law keeps tourists away in droves, circulated petitions for a referendum on change.

Devout Mormons do not use alcohol, or even coffee and tea. About two-thirds of Utah's 800,000 people are Mormons, and the Church came down hard on the proposal to ease the rules on booze.

Salt Lake City's two dailies took opposite sides, the Church-owned Evening Deseret News opposing any change and the Morning Salt Lake Tribune favoring it.

The proliquor forces claim the Church is spending freely to defeat them.

Said one of their leaders: "We can't match the $400,000 that's been raised to keep the law."

Ford II Gets Credit for Sideburns

Guess the occupations of the sideburn wearers above. Each gent is in a profession which does not necessarily call for long hair. Give up? By BOB COCHNAR
NEA Menswear Specialist

NEW YORK—(NEA)—It all started with Henry Ford II. He didn't make a big deal over it, to be sure. One day, several years ago, he just appeared and he looked, well groovy. And suddenly, sideburns were respectable.

The New Look, according to historians at the Institute, dates from the 24 hours of LeMans of 1967 when HFII led a natty Ford contingent to the French race. There he was, his gray-black hair creeping subtly over his collar and his fluffy sideburns practically to earlobe length.

No doubt about it. Henry Ford II, scion of one of America's most influential families, was doing his thing—and doing it well.

Prior to the Ford fad, sideburns were worn by actors, southern Europeans, super jet-setters and a mixed group of unsavories. And now even Richard Nixon and Hubert Humphrey glory in their longish sideburns.

Our historians say that the current vogue for sideburns and long hair represents a delayed reaction to World War II and Korea. The military, bless it, generally offered its members two hair styles—short all around or none all around.

The rationale was sound. Short hair is neater, more uniform. It encourages the sameness which military chieftains believe is important. So legions of men in uniform returned from the front with their crew cuts which, by that time, had become no-nonsense habits. Nobody wore sideburns at all.

Women knew right along that hair had its importance and could, depending on its arrangements, radically alter the personality of the owner. All those postwar crew cuts made for bland personalities.

So hippies, yuppies and the self-alienated folk discovered that long hair would separate them from the common middle-class herd. Establishment reaction was strong and newspapers frequently carried stories about long-haired Johnny who was kept out of school until he returned freshly cut and powdered.

Well, those days are over. Sure, conservatives still bleat from time to time but Henry Ford II put an end to that.

In a New York restaurant the other day, two respectable businessmen were hunched over their table and they weren't talking about stocks and bonds.

"How do like my sideburns, Harry?" one asked.

"Terrific," Harry replied. "I've just started growing mine, but they're coming in nicely."

Then there was animated conversation about the benefits of the raggy-back-of-the-neck look. It went on and on.

A minister friend returned from a two-week convention in Europe with down-to-the-earlobe sideburns and the beginnings of a luxuriant mustache. The mustache went a few days later ("when you're out trying to raise money from strait-laced Yankees, it isn't wise to look too hippy") but the sideburns remained.

Unfortunately, a number of men simply can't grow decent hair on the lip or at the ear. And a few wispy strands just don't create the desired effect.

These men—and others who believe in the flexible hair approach—are discovering that hairpiece makers stand ready to help. Fake sideburns, mustaches and beards are now available in most major cities. And business, reports one manufacturer, couldn't be better.

What does it all mean? The historians at the Institute point out that hair traditionally is a symbol of strength and masculinity. Remember what happened to Samson when Delilah scissored off his locks?

With men's fashions becoming bolder, the male-female balance can be restored with mustache, beard or sideburns. If there's one thing a woman can't do, it's raise hair on the face.

New telephone directory being delivered

The new Hope-Bodcaw telephone directory is now being delivered. In addition to the usual terrific cast of characters, the new book has a new plot.

What's new? The telephone numbers.

Exchange names (such as PROspect and TWinoaks) are gone. Numbers have taken their place. For example, "PR 7-4601" is now "777-4601." It's part of the nationwide change to All Number Calling (ANC). Already, about three-fourths of the nation's phones have all-numeral numbers.

No changes are required in the way you dial a call. Just dial the number as it's listed and your call will zip through. Matter of fact, dialing is even faster and easier with only numbers to look for on the dial.

You'll also find ANC ends confusion between letters and figures (such as I and one, O and zero) and between central office names that sound alike. This means fewer "wrong numbers"—something we can do without.

We think you'll like All Number Calling.

By the way, when you receive your new directory, take a minute to look through the Information pages at the front of the book. They're packed with information to help you get more out of your telephone service.

Not So Self-conscious Over Nonexclusivity of Her Own Wardrobe

By JOY STILLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that I've learned that a society matron and the wife of an ambassador appeared at a party here in the same black satin Yves St. Laurent pants suit, I don't feel so self-conscious about the nonexclusivity of my own wardrobe.

As a matter of fact, when I show up at a gathering in a dress identical to what some other woman is wearing, I'm in good company, historically speaking. The wife of a president of the United States once attended a ball wearing a famed designer's gown and found its twin right there on the scene. Fortunately, when I run into a mirror-like image of myself, it's usually on the street or in an elevator, and my sister-in-law soon faces away into the crowd, after we have exchanged a grin of chagrin.

My embarrassment was of a longer duration, however, on a recent occasion when I spent a day at the office sitting next to a coworker who was wearing a blue version of the pink dress I was sporting. Now we consult each other in advance to receive priority before donning our look-alike garments.

Not only are you likely to meet your best friend wearing the same little number as you, but when you meet your mother for lunch her outfit also is quite likely to be like yours.

There was a time when you shopped in one department, your daughter in another and your mother still a third. These days your daughter may well turn up at school in exactly the same dress her teacher is wearing.

Every season there are a few best-selling styles that start at the haute couture level and work their way down to the bargain basements. Rosy O'Grady and the colonel's lady may buy their clothes in widely different price ranges but from a distance they look as though they had come off the same rack.

A few years ago I purchased a distinctively styled green dress, which was my favorite until it all over the landscape. That dress came out in more different forms than the latest gossip at a ladies' teaparty.

I have finally found the solution for that problem. I put a dress that becomes overly popular away until all the purchasers of that style have worn out their copies and when I get it back out I have the field strictly to myself again.

McLain Gets Young Award in Baseball

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Denny

McLain, Detroit's 31-game winner, was unanimously selected today the American League's Cy Young Award winner for 1968.

McLain, 24, was the choice on all 20 ballots—two from each league city—in the annual Baseball Writer's Association of America vote.

McLain, who succeeds Boston's Jim Lonborg as the AL's Young winner, beat every team in the league at least twice and became the first 30-game winner in the major leagues in 34 years. Dizzy Dean, who won 30 for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1934, was the last man to reach that plateau.

The ballots were sent in before the World Series and did not consider Series performances. McLain lost his first two Series starts but won the vital sixth game, tying the classic against the Cardinals at three games apiece. Mickey Lolich, who won three Series games, beat St. Louis as Detroit took the title in the seventh game and pitched 28 complete games. He was 17-2 on the road and 14-4 at home. He struck out 280 walked 63 and pitched six shutouts. He had a 1.96 earned run average, fourth best in the league.

LISBON (AP) — In 1967 Portugal exported 2,421 metric tons of olive oil, 394 tons more than the year before.

Brazil was by far the biggest buyer. It imported 1,789 tons of Portuguese olive oil, 909 tons more than in 1966.

Venezuela was the second biggest buyer with 311 tons and the United States was third with 142.

Last year's exports to Brazil were still far from the highest figure for any given year — 1948, when 2,267 metric tons were sold to Brazil.

Simmons S. Smith, Hope High School senior, is interviewed by Ensign Rodney E. Cooper as a possible candidate for cadet in the Coast Guard Academy. Simmons S. Smith, a Hope High School senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Hezekiah Madison Smith of 702 S. Walnut, St. was interviewed at school Wednesday by Ensign Rodney E. Cooper.

Simmy's high scores on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test have brought him to the attention of the Coast Guard Academy as well as other institutions. He will take the College Entrance Examination Board test in Texarkana Saturday, November 2.

Ensign Cooper is on a two-week cadet procurement assignment. He will be visiting qualified students at about 30 or high schools in Arkansas and Mississippi. He is from the Second District

Headquarters for the Coast Guard in St. Louis.

He did lose the two trump tricks, but because both the club and diamond finesses worked for him and since he was able to ruff out the ace and king of hearts to establish dummy's queen for a club discard, he made four odd but Australia still lost 630 points or 12 International Match Points on the hand.

Illegal Liquor Output Huge

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Louis E. Howell, executive director of the National Council Against Illegal Liquor, says the annual output of illegal liquor in the United States totals nearly 56 million gallons and is "an estimated $744 million tax swindle on federal, state and local treasuries."

No Political Implications, Says Hubert

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said President Johnson's decision to halt the bombing of North Vietnam helps "the cause of peace. This is going to help people. I don't think it has much to do with candidates as such."

Humphrey had been asked Thursday night if the decision would help his Democratic presidential candidacy.

Later, arriving in Battle Creek, Mich., for a rally, Humphrey said, "Tonight I feel more deeply serious about the nature of this campaign than ever before, because of developments that have taken place that your President announced." Humphrey told newsmen he had decided himself not to take his place at the National Security Council meeting that preceded Johnson's announcement. "I am a candidate," he said. "I didn't feel that it was appropriate for me when other candidates cannot be there... I want no political implications whatsoever."

Thus, Humphrey was informed of the decision in a conference telephone call from Johnson to an Elizabeth, N.J., hotel. Republican Richard M. Nixon and third-party candidate George C. Wallace listened from their stops along the campaign trail.

Humphrey indicated the bombing pause would not affect his campaign style in the few days remaining before the election.

Humphrey received some abuse in Battle Creek several hours later, but most of the crowd consisted of supporters who gave him an enthusiastic reception.

"Why do you kill Americans, you pig?" a 19-year-old student screamed as Humphrey was speaking.

The crowd shouted him down and someone grabbed him; but Humphrey raised a placating hand and said, "Let the young man speak. Let him be heard."

The student muttered some thing about the war and was led out of the auditorium.

"Every man is entitled to his point of view," Humphrey called after him, "But I just wish he'd address me by my right name, that's all."

BARBS

By PHIL PASTORET

Money isn't a worry to most of us, but the lack of it sure causes considerable concern.

People who reminisce fondly about the days when grandma cooked for three days getting ready for Thanksgiving are usually the grandpas.

Our pipe-smoking colleague doesn't spend much on tobacco, but his bill for boxes of matches must be terrific.

Bring your wife candy on payday and she'll spend hours poring over the check stub wondering what you did with the rest of the extra money.

APPOINTMENT BLOCKED
CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The government has blocked the appointment of a black professor to the University of Cape Town faculty. Education Minister Jan de Klerk told the university that naming African Archie Mafeje as lecturer in social anthropology would flout "the accepted traditional outlook of South Africa." Students are mostly white and the university has only one colored (mulatto) faculty member.

BACK AT WORK after a recent illness which put her in the hospital, Elizabeth Taylor seems happy in her new movie, a film about Las Vegas.
